

Difference between Classification and Regression?

Classification is used to produce discrete results, i.e. used to classify data into some specific categories. For example classifying e-mails into spam and non-spam categories.

Whereas, We use Regression analysis when we are dealing with continuous data, for example predicting stock prices at a certain point of time.

At Robofied,
we aspire to democratize AI
Education

Join our channels:

www.robofied.com

<https://instagram.com/robofied>

<https://twitter.com/Robofied>